

Explore the city with London Treasure Hunts

*"I've been a Londoner for fifty years, and I never knew half of the things I saw today existed!" Philip, South London, Customer

We're delighted to announce the launch of London Treasure Hunts. This new and exciting internet-based company aims to encourage tourists and residents alike to discover London. We create self-guided treasure hunts, suitable for all ages, which will help everyone get the most out of their time in the capital, whether fresh off the plane or a seasoned Londoner.

We aim to look beyond the picture-postcard landmarks to show off London's eccentricities, its tucked-away gems and the relics of Roman, Medieval, Tudor and Victorian times that litter its streets and alleyways. London is one of the oldest metropolises in the world and its vibrant, valiant and sometimes violent history is still visible today.

There are currently two hunts, based in the City and Kensington Gardens, available for purchase. A third, the South Bank hunt, will be on sale shortly. Every hunt is tailored to its terrain and contains many weird and wonderful facts about London and its history. All hunts cost £10 and are suitable for groups of up to ten. Larger groups can be accommodated via our personalised hunt service.
